Health Nugget

"People who used an unproven cancer treatment administered by nonmedical personnel along with at least 1 conventional treatment had a 2-fold greater risk of death than those who only used conventional treatments." The reason for the high risk of death was related to refusal of conventional treatment rather than from the complementary treatment. Ref.: JAMA December 4, 2018, Volume 320, Number 21, pp 2189-2190
